At the visual analysis, it demonstrates to be brilliant and intense as usual for a spirit; as regards the chromatic tones, it is full gold color.

At the olfactory analysis, the nose is intense and complex, and the perfumes, which compose the olfactory bouquet, are all clear, neat, and limpid. As the description of the olfactory sensations, it is possible to identify honey, wood, charcoal, white chocolate, ripe banana, passion fruit, custard, vanilla, chamomile, and lemon zest.

At the gustative analysis, the alcoholic sensation, with great tingling on the dorsal part of the tongue, is dominant, even if there is some softness and a touch of salivation; the final aroma is based on toasted wood flavor.

At the retro-olfactory analysis, the alcoholic note remains consistent and easily noticeable, but not so stable in the sense that the intensity is not strong as at the beginning; the retro-olfactory sensations are summarized by banana, custard, wood and a tip of bitterness at the end.

The gustative aromatic persistency is about 32/33 seconds.

COMBINATION: Sipping Whisky (at the end of the meal)

PERSONAL OPINION: a regular whisky that satisfies all the tasting criteria, but does not achieve the category of unique and exclusive; it fulfills both the olfactory and gustatory parameters, being very usable to the nose and fairly tolerable (alcohol) in the mouth; in other words, it is recommended, it should be tasted and also really appreciated, but it is not a whisky for a very special occasion.
