At the visual analysis, it demonstrates to be amber with cadmium yellow reflexes.

At the olfactory analysis, the perfumes, which compose the olfactory bouquet, are all clear, neat and limpid. As the description of the olfactory sensations, it is easy to identify the yellow peach, the pastry cream, a kind of green wood, some rosemary and a yellow rose.

At the gustative exam, the alcohol sensation is still too much present in the sense that the alcoholic dryness and the crisping sensation of the alcoholic note are dominant. At the end, some flavours such as wood and peach are coming out with a little salivation in order to complete the gustative analysis.

At the retro-olfactory analysis, the heating sensation, justified for the alcoholic percentage of the spirit, is softening; wood and rosemary are the flavours which tend to enhance their presence in the mouth. The gustative aromatic persistence is about 32/33 seconds (pretty good to be a tequila).

MY PERSONAL OPINION: a tequila to inebriate, with love words, the most beautiful woman of the party.
